

ABSTRACT

Device for processing a supple porous textile piece (6) comprising at least one first surface and one
5 second surface adjacent to the first surface, the process being carried out on the second surface and not on the first surface, comprising:

- A departure area and an arrival area for placing the textile piece (6), the departure area being equipped 10 with a non-porous mobile mask (18) with a shape corresponding to the first surface,
- A processing area equipped with processing means,
- A pick-up head with a suction plate (30) with a shape corresponding to that of said mask (18), 15 mobile between the departure area, the processing area, and the arrival area.

Fig. 5